THE following Address of the University and King's College of Aberdeen, having been transmitted to the Honourable Archibald Grant, Esq; Knight of the Shire for the County of Aberdeen, has by him been presented to His Majesty, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Roxburghe, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address of the University and King's College of Aberdeen.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Rector, Principal, Professors, and Masters, in the University and King's College of Aberdeen, being now met at the Opening of this Session of your College, think ourselves bound in Duty to return our most solemn Thanks to Almighty God for His great Goodness and Mercy to these Lands, that by His Blessing on your Royal Care and wise Administration, the treasonable Projects of all your Enemies have been timely discovered, and hitherto disappointed, and thereby the Peace and Tranquility of these Kingdoms happily preserved.

We beg Leave, with Hearts full of Joy, to congratulate your Majesty on this Occasion, and to express our utmost Detestation and Abhorrence of all traitorous Attempts whatsoever to alienate the Affections of your Subjects from your most Excellent Majesty, whom Heaven has adorned with such illustrious princely Qualities, and whose Accession to the Throne, as well as the whole Course of your Reign, has been distinguished by so frequent signal Interpositions of divine Providence, in Favours of your Majesty's just Right and Title, and the Protestant Succession so happily established in your Royal Family.

Your Majesty's steady Adherence to our Constitution both in Church and State, your having never attempted any Innovation in our established Religion, nor in any one Instance invaded the Liberty or Property of your Subjects, but by making the Laws of the Realm the Rule and Measure of all your Actions, protected them in the peaceable and full Enjoyment of their Religious and Civil Rights; the tender Concern you have been graciously pleased to express for their private Losses and Misfortunes, which they brought on themselves; your indemnifying great Numbers who were guilty of a most unnatural Rebellion, and that you have used all Endeavours to preserve the Affections of your Subjects, are such Distinguishing Proofs of your great Wisdom and Goodness; and so many are the inestimable Blessings which we enjoy under your Majesty's Government, that we cannot sufficiently express our great Indignation against these perfidious and wicked Men, who have the Malice and Boldness to foment Discontents against your Majesty's Royal Administration, and form Plots to overturn a Constitution that is justly esteemed the great Bulwark of the Reformation, and the only visible Means, under God, to hinder Popery and Tyranny from oppressing your Majesty's Kingdom, and all the Nations of Europe.

We do not much wonder, that these of the Roman Communion, among us, notwithstanding the Tranquillity they enjoy, should, agreeably to their Principles, be drawn into such desperate Measures in Favour of a Popish Pretender; but that any Ministers, or Members of a Protestant Church, should be so abandoned, as notwithstanding their most solemn Oaths, and all the Obligations of Duty and Gratitude they lie under to your Majesty, to hazard all the Evils of a Rebellion, only to bring from Rome a bigotted Papist to be the Defender of their Faith, and Protector of their Church, is Matter of the greatest Affrontment, and an Infatuation not to be accounted for.

At the same time, we cannot but observe with the greatest Pleasure, the most dutiful Zeal which the Generality and the best Part of the Protestants, in Britain have expressed for your Majesty's Person and Government, as on all former Occasions, so of late, by their most loyal and seasonable Addresses, particularly from their worthy Representatives in Parliament, which we hope, by the Blessing of God, will either put a stop to these daring Attempts of your Enemies, or make them terminate in the firmer Establishment of your Majesty's Throne.

Pardon us, Great Sir, that our Zeal hath made us trespass too much on your Majesty's Patience at this time; and give us Leave to assure your Majesty, that as we are under peculiar Obligations to your Majesty, the Royal Patron of this Univerſity and College, and have the moſt grateful Senſe of the Marks of your Favour we have already received; ſo it ſhall be our utmoſt Endeavour, in our reſpective Stations, to poſſeſs the Youth under our Care with ſuch Principles of Religion and Loyalty, as may, through the divine Bleſſing, influence them to an Abhorrence of Popery and Arbitrary Power, and engage their Affections to your Majesty's Perſon and Government, and to the Pro- teſtant Succeſſion in your Royal Family.

It is, and shall be our most earnest Prayer to God, that He would continue both your Person and Government under His special Protection; and as He has hitherto made all Opposition both at Home and Abroad to fall before you, so He would be graciously pleased to crown your former Victories with the most desirable Conquest of the Hearts of your Subjects; that your Majesty and your Royal Family, to the latest Posterity, may have the just Satisfaction of ruling over an obedient, dutiful, and affectionate People in Britain, and at last be blessed with that Kingdom which cannot be moved, and an eternal Crown of Glory.

Berne, Jan. 10. Letters from Lucern give an Account, that the Inhabitants of that Canton having laid a small Tax upon the Ecclesiasticks, the latter complained of it to the Pope's Nuncio, who immediately threatened the Canton with the Thunder of the Vatican; the Magistrates sent him Word, he might go to Rome and put his Menaces in Execution there, but not in a Country where the Sovereign Power is held of God alone. Some Advices from Italy say, that altho' the Pope seems to be recovered at present from his late Illness, his Physicians are of Opinion he cannot hold out many Months.

Paris, Jan. 16. It is reported, that the King designs after his Majority, to visit several Provinces of this Kingdom; at present his Majesty takes great Delight in Hunting; and diverts himself with it frequently. The Prince of Conti went some Days ago to his Country Seat called Adam's Isle, and gave a great Entertainment there to several of the Nobility; among whom were the Duke of Chartres, and Duke and Dutchess of Main. A great Number of Financiers have been summoned to Versailles, to give their Opinion touching the new Dispositions that are to be observed in the Finances soon after the King's Majority. Letters from Bourdeaux say, that the Princess of Orleans arrived there the 30th past, and was received with with all the Honours due to her Rank. Some Ships lately arrived at one of the Ports of Britany from the Mississippi, have brought Advice, that the new Silver Mine which has been discovered in the Louifane, yields 30 per Cent. Profit.
